MISCELLANEOUS READING. SELF-DEFENCE.

NO. 121.

This phrase, so often pleaded in our courts as the justification of sanguinary deeds, has become, by its abuse, a convertible term for cowardly assassination and cold-blooded murder. On this base pretence, numbers in this country, have been suddenly sent to their account, by knife or bullet, at the hands of treacherous and cowardly bravos, who frequently provoke a demonstration sufficient to legally justify a slaughter, very often deliberately planned. Where "self-defence" comes into popular acceptation, as it has in this country generally self-control is ignored, and even the poor redeeming feature of the combat a l'outrancechivalrous fair play-is done away with, for, never give your adversary a chance, is the principle that prevails in those sanguinary encounters.

A rare and noble exception has to be made o these generalities, and we believe, the only one, under simliar circumstances, that has occurred in this State, in the difficulty, last week, between Messrs. Lee and Fairfax, at Sacramento. After some wordy altercation. the former stabbed the latter twice with a swordcane. Mr. Fairfax drew a revolver and presented it to Lee's breast; he refrained from firing, however, and exclaimed, "I spare your life, for the sake of your wife and children!" Here was a man with his passion roused, stabbed to death for aught he knew, his opponent glaring in front of him, yet the vision of that man's wife and children floats between him and his vengeance-he passed the weapon to a friend, and spares the man that had probably given him his deathwound.

Since that day on which Sir Philip Sydney, on the battle field of Lutzen, passed the gourd of water untasted from his parched lips to the wounded soldier who lay gasping with thirst at his side, a more heroic act has not been done, and the exclamation of Sydney .- "Take it, triend, for thy sufferings are greater than mine," is rivalled by the wounded man, who called, "I spare you, for the sake of your wife and children."

We know nothing whatever of Mr. Fair-A NOTHER ARRIVAL.—BRYAN & ADAMS have again returned from New York with a choice lot of LADIES' DRESS GOODS. They good, and certainly is a brave man. What a wretched wind-up to the career of such a man it would be, to be slain like a dog in a miserable street brawl, and in a moment of uncontrolled temper. But homilies on these subjects are useless as long as men, very many of whom have had the education of gentlemen, and are pursuing honorable occupations, make a practice of carrying deadly weapons on their persons, when engaged in their ordinary pursuits, among what we term, by a popular fiction, civilized communities, as if they were going to travel in a country infested by brigands. We have known men, from the very fact of having a tooth-pick in ther pocket, use it on their teeth before dinner, as well as after it. There is no doubt that carrying weapons suggests their use, and they will be often brought into requisition on trivial occasions, and for reasons wherein it is most outrageous that a rational being should peril his own life, or assail that of a fellow-creature .- California paper.

NEW PICTORIAL EDITION.

WE HAVE IN PRESS, to be issued the first of June, a new edition of Webster's Unaand varied stock of DRY, MILLINERY, and bridged Dictionary, containing 1500 PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATIONS, Beautifully executed.

9,000 to 10,000 New Words in the Vocabulary Table of Synonyms, by Prof. GOODRICH, in which more than two thousand words are carofully discriminated, forming a fuller work on English Synonyms, of itself, than any other issued, beside Crabb, and believed in advance of that,

Table giving Pronunciation of Names of 8000 dis-tinguished persons of Modern Times, Peculiar use of Words and Terms in the Bible, With other new features, together with all the matter of previous editions, comprised in a volume of 1748 pages. that this is by far the most perfect form which any Dictionary has ever assumed. All the ingenuity ever applied to language will not give that idea of a mechanical device which a simple cut will do. It is almost impossible for the most in telligent mind to get a clear idea of a metope, a crochet, a hip or queen post roof, or anything else in architecture, from a definition, while a small engraving brings it up at once.

The illustrations of the new edition are copious and truly excellent, in full keeping with the superiority of a great standard work. Several thou sand new words have also been added to it, so that it is not possible to imagine a more perfect work of the kind. For reference in schools, and for the young it is possessed of a very peculiar value.— Daily Evening Bulletin. Specimen pages will be furnished without charge on application to the publishers.

Will be sold by all Booksellers.
